

charge of. The resolution was then read as follows:—

Resolved, That the Convention will, this day, take a recess from half-past one o'clock to four o'clock, and that a committee be appointed to prepare a report on the progress of the Convention, and to report thereon at four o'clock.

Mr. Gurnea moved a point of order, that a motion to adourn be always in order, and the resolution was not in order, unless the Convention shall record or repeat the rule.

Mr. Vinton explained that the proposition was, in effect, to suspend the rule and substitute a temporary order instead.

The President remarked, that a motion to adjourn is always in order; but it was within the knowledge of the Chair that such a course had been taken in the House of Representatives, &c., &c., &c.

The demand for the previous question was seconded, and under its operation the resolution was adopted.

BOUQUETS FROM THE LADIES.

During the above proceedings, Messrs. Webb and Bots were honored with bouquets thrown from the galleries.

MR. RAYMOND IN THROATY ORATORY OF VERACITY—

FRITZ HARRY DENYING, ETC.

Mr. Raymond, of Ga., said:—I hold in my hand a newspaper, edited by a member of this Convention, in which three States are charged with a corrupt bargain. These three States are named and specified. There is also a general charge, of the same character, against all the Southern States. That editorial I propose to read.

CRIS—No, "no," read. "proceed to ballot."

Mr. Raymond continued:—I wish no confusion, but I hope we will not be prevented from examining this case a little.

Has the day come when the representatives of a free people, assembled in convention, are to be charged with a corrupt bargaining and sale, when, if any one of them were guilty of such conduct, he ought to be expelled. If guilty of it let them be known that they may be branded by their constituents with the infamy they deserve.

(Applause.)

The Chair—Will the gentleman state his motion?

Mr. Raymond—I understood I had the right to presume my motion with some remarks. I will read my resolution. It is as follows:—

Whereas, Mr. H. J. Raymond who holds a seat in this convention, has been charged with a corrupt bargain, and the first which came most naturally in order, was his right to be here, and to speak here at all.

SATISFACTION AT PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, Me., June 21, 1852.

We are now firing one hundred guns for Scott and Graham. The whigs are in fine spirits, and are celebrating the occasion with rockets, fireworks, &c.

REJOICING AT BANGOR.

BANGOR, June 21, 1852.

The whigs are giving evidence of most hearty rejoicings at the nomination of Scott. One hundred guns are now being fired, and the city is generally illumined by the friends of the nominee.

RECEPTION OF THE NOMINATIONS IN BROOKLYN.

The result of the Whig National Convention was warmly received by the admirers of the hero of Chippewa, and very cordially by the adherents of President Fillmore.

of the friends of Daniel Webster. During the early part of the evening a party of whigs, headed by a man of place upon the Brooklyn Heights, and fired off a salute of fifty guns, in honor of the nominations of Scott and Webster. The salute was subsequently taken to the same place, and an additional salute fired.

THE WHIG GENERAL COMMITTEE—THE NOMINATION

OF SCOTT.

There was a meeting of the Whig General Committee last evening, at the Broadway House, to make arrangements for a mass meeting to ratify the nomination of General Scott. The details of what was done could not be ascertained, but there was much feeling of disaffection on the part of the Fillmore men about the nomination of Scott. The same feeling was expressed in the bar-room, and there appeared to be the gloomy apprehension that the whig party are doomed to a tremendous defeat next fall, notwithstanding the roaring of cannon during the evening.
